Service Dog Training Overview

This section provides big-picture cost and time estimates for possible training scenarios

Once you acquire a dog, full training generally includes:

- Puppy Raising
- Level 1: Manners & Public Access Foundations
- Level 2: Task Foundations + Intermediate Public Access
- Level 3: Advanced Public Access
- Level 4: Task Training

Service Dog owner-training varies in time and cost based on how much training support you want.

If you…

- want to prioritize fast, efficient training and
- have a flexible budget….

The estimates that include Board & Train will be most relevant to you. The "Train for Me" option is the quickest route to a fully trained service dog.

If you…

- want to prioritize affordability and
- feel confident in your training skills….

The "Empower Me" estimate, which focuses on group classes, will be most relevant to you. Classes are highly affordable and focus on teaching you high-level training skills.

Training Scenarios

The scenarios below illustrate typical timelines and costs for training your dog to full public access capability, along with mastery of 3 tasks. We have used 3 popular tasks – deep pressure therapy, blocking, and alerting to a symptom – as examples.

Cost estimates for the different levels of training are broken out. [GO TO page 5 to see detailed descriptions of what is included in each training level]

NOTE: In comparison, acquiring a fully trained service dog from a program typically costs $15,000 to $60,000, with wait times of up to 5 years.

The 3 scenarios above are only 3 sample scenarios. Every team is different with unique needs. Contact us to get started and see how our services can best fit your situation.

Getting Started

Entry into our training program is available through one of these services:

1. Dog Search Support (we'll help you find your future service dog)
2. PEARL DISC (Level 1) online group class (most popular!) -The PEARL DISC live course is the right starting point for dogs of all ages and experience levels. (If you have an adult dog with extensive previous training, and you are a skilled trainer and handler, there may be additional options, but this is rare.)
3. Board & Train (for puppies or adult dogs. Adults must meet behavioral and health requirements.)
